Leslie Javelo:

First and foremost concern is that this is life threatening for our children and family. If there were God forbid a Columbine incident at the high school, it would take our police and fire dept. longer to get there potentially more children dying. Would take longer to get to the hospital, risking more children and others lives. As a cancer survivor who have a chance of longer life, with all the toxins and other environmental issues will cause more physical damage to myself and others. Heard people say that the trains are in the back yard, and would be unconscionable to increase the volume because of the added danger of derailment and accidents and hazardous materials.
